6. Orders types

6.1 Limit Order- a Limit Order is an instruction to trade at a level that becomes more favorable to the Client. A Limit Order can be used to open or close a position. Each Limit Order has a specified price limit set by the Client (but subject to the Company's agreement). A Limit Order will be triggered if the Company's bid price (in the case a sell order) or ask price (in the case of a buy order) moves in the Client's favor to a point where the Client's order can be executed. Once the limit level is triggered, the Company will seek to execute the order at that price. If the Company cannot do so (e.g. because in attempting to execute the order, the price becomes less favorable to the Client), the limit order will remain operational, waiting for the price to move again in the Client's favor, such that it is triggered again.

6.2 Stop Order- a Stop Order is generally placed to provide some risk protection, for example, in the event of the Client's position moving into loss. A Stop Order can also be used to either open or close a position. Each Stop Order has a specific stop level, set by you (but subject to the Company's agreement). The Stop Order will be triggered only if a transaction takes place on the Company's trading platform at that stop level. Once the Stop Order is triggered, the Company will seek to execute the order at a level that is the same as the stop level (although it may be at a less favorable level).

6.3 Other orders explanations– Such as OCO'S (One Cancels the other), ID's (If Done) Trailing Stops etc., and more information, can be found on the Company's website.

6.4 Rollovers or Swaps- a Trade is automatically renewed ('rolled over') at night, to the next business day, without the need for the Client's intervention. Such rollovers are accommodated with interest debits or credits to the Trader's Trading Account, based on the interest rate differentials applicable to each currency and taking into account the Company's own costs, depending on whether the position is long or short on the high interest rate currency.

6.5 Margin call- In the event that the client fails or is expected to fail to meet the amounts required to secure his open trades, the Company may demand that the client shall deposit such sums as required ('margin call'). In case the Client fails to meet such margin call, the Company may close out the Client's position(s). The Client acknowledges and agrees that this may result in a Transaction being closed out at a less favorable time or rate than might otherwise be the case and the Company shall not have any liability to the Client as a result of it closing out any Transaction in such circumstances.

GENERAL RISK DISCLOSURE

1. Prior to applying for an account, the Client should consider carefully whether trading in the Forex markets and the use of other services offered by the Company, (Hereinafter: "Trading") is suitable for him in the light of his circumstances and financial resources and the risks described herein.
2. Trading in the Forex and other capital markets is considered Risky and Speculative. The leverage available in trading means that a relatively small movement can lead to a proportionately much larger movement in the size of any loss or profit. It can work against you as well as for you, and lead to large losses as well as gains.
3. The relevant markets for Trading are characterized as high volatile markets, which inherits high risk, and may cause high losses to the deposit funds, and in a short period of time. The company is not and will not, in NO way, be responsible to the trades executed, or not executed, by the Client.
4. The Client is ultimately responsible for all of the losses suffered in their account. As a consequence, the Client should be prepared to lose all funds which he has deposited. The Client is also responsible for losses that exceed its profits and deposits. The Client should never fund his trading activities with retirement savings, loans, mortgages, emergency funds, funds set aside for purposes such as education or home ownership, or funds required for current income or present or future medical expenses.
5. Competition and Sophistication- Trading requires in-depth knowledge of the relevant markets, trading techniques and strategies. Therefore, a high level of investment and trading experience is necessary. No guarantees are offered or represented by the Company regarding the returns that can be expected from Trading.
6. Rules and Regulations- The Client must know and follow the rules and regulations applicable to the Company's Trading services as set forth in the documents and agreements delivered to and signed or approved (by way of internet approval) by the Client. Not following the rules and regulations applicable to Trading or any other applicable regulation may result in forced closure of positions ("Trades"), temporary freezing of the Client's account, closing the account and/or other actions necessary for the protection of the Company.
7. Transaction Costs May Reduce Profit Taking. Be aware that every time an individual trade is placed, the Company profits from the Ask/Bid Spread. These transaction costs are a major cause of Traders not being able to increase their trading size and developing as a trader. The total daily/monthly/yearly commissions may add to losses and/or significantly impact and reduce profits.
8. Use of Leverage or Margin May be a Speculative and Costly Strategy. Trading using Margin is generally used by traders as a way to increase their purchasing power in order to be able to open a larger position without paying for it in full. Trading on leverage or margin, or the use of leverage generally, may result in losses beyond the initial investment or deposit.
Extreme caution should be exercised relative to the Client's use of a margin account.
9. Knowledge of Our Software Programs. The Client must be knowledgeable in the use and functionality of the Trading software provided by the Company, or by any third-party provider, in order to correctly interpret account information and to be able to place orders correctly. The Client shall be responsible for all orders placed in his account, regardless of his understanding of the system functionality. If the Client is not in complete understanding of the way the system operates, he should not trade before obtaining the required knowledge.
10. Overnight Positions are considered Risky. Holding large positions, especially after the close of the relevant market (or in any case of cease of commerce, corporate events, freeze of trading on a security etc.), may result in considerable losses. Opening prices (next day or renew of commerce) can be significantly different from the previous closing prices; such price changes may also significantly change the result of stop-loss orders.

11. Company Makes No Warranty Regarding the Effectiveness, Accuracy or Efficiency of the Trading Platforms. From time to time, the Client may have difficulty accessing its account data due to a possible myriad of technical problems. The Company makes no warranty of merchantability, no warranty of fitness for a particular purpose, and no other warranty of any kind, express or implied, regarding this service, data or information provided thereby, or any aspect regarding the order entry or execution services, except as required by applicable law, regarding possible damages, including, but not limited to, lost profits, trading losses or damages that result from reliance on inaccurate data, or delay or loss of access to customer account execution services.

12. Account Statements- It is very important for the Client to reconcile his account on a frequent basis. Any suspected discrepancies should be immediately brought to Company's attention. All trade confirmations and monthly statements will be deemed accepted by you if not complained of upon receipt.

13. The trading services provided are intended to provide professional and non-professional Traders with a mechanism for execution of trades. Nothing in this service constitutes investment advice or a recommendation by the Company or its affiliates to buy, sell or hold a particular security, financial product or instrument discussed therein or the suitability for making any such investment. 14. Redemptions and Distributions May Only be made if there is Available Cash or Equity.

Pursuant to the Client Agreement, upon the Client's request and subject to available funds, the Company shall distribute back to the Client, any part of the Client's Equity, not securing any open or expected trade or debt. Available funds will depend upon the financial condition of the Company's Trading Account, as well as the financial condition of the Client's Account. Thus, in the event the Company has suffered losses unrelated to the performance of the Client's Account, the Company may be unable to satisfy redemption requests or request for distribution of cash or securities. The Company is Not Covered by Insurance in Case of Misconduct by Our Agents or in case of Insolvency.

15. Cease of Trading- Due to the fact that commerce system is based, amongst others, on networks for the exchange of information and the Internet, the commerce or any part thereof may be ceased and/ or disrupted and etc., without prior notice or for reasons which are not under the Company's control. In a situation in which commerce is disrupted, the Company shall be permitted, inter alia, to close all open transactions made by the Client, without prior notice, inasmuch as possible in fair prices reflecting the market condition at that moment. The Client shall have no claim, demand or right for indemnification in such an event, with respect to any damage claims that were caused due to the cease of commerce and/ or due to transactions performed or not performed.

16. Since the information, including pricing information, is received from international information providers who are a third party, it is impossible for the Company to be responsible for the updating and accuracy of the information appearing in the website and or trading platform and its conformance with the updating pace of the international market. In the event that an error in transmission of the information becomes known, the Company may adjust the pricing and the outcome of the positions.

17. Force majeure- The Company shall not bear responsibility to any harm or any form which shall be caused to the Client in the event that such harm is the result of a force majeure and any outside event
